Characteristics of the Vintage

An atypically sunny winter and very cool and rainy spring was followed by an extremely hot and dry summer. However, the rainfall in both winter and spring was well above the average of the past 30 years which helped compensate the hot and dry summer effects.

Grapes were under very high water stress by the end of August but a couple of days of rain came to refresh the vines and boosted the maturation. The phenolic maturation was lower than usual which allowed the production of very elegant and balanced wines.
